

Stan,

I wanted to let you know that I have received nothing but positive feedback from the course you taught here at Pax River 17-18 March 2009.

I have been a training specialist for approximately 3 years and can't remember such positive feedback from the students in a class as I received with your students. I always make it a point to poll the students in my classes on the overall benefit of the course to them and everyone I spoke with seemed so excited with the information they were receiving in the class, your enthusiasm and energy and your passion for the Subject Matter. The students couldn't wait to get back to work and start using the information. In addition, I have also received several emails from students telling me that it was the best class they ever took.

I have forwarded the synopsis for the Writing to Get Things Done course to our Personal Development training manager in the hopes of offering more courses here at Pax for our entire workforce from Senior level employees to new hires and also Non-Acquisition personnel.

I look forward to working with you again in May and I can't wait to see the course evaluations from your students.

Thanks again Stan for a wonderful course.
